

2023 Colorado Emerging Professionals Workshop

What is Emerging Professionals Workshop?

Emerging Professionals Workshop (EPW) is a free educational and networking opportunity designed for professionals in their first ten years of floodplain management, water management, emergency management and related fields. The event is hosted by the US Army Corps Colorado Silver Jackets, evolving from the recognition that some communities could not afford the investment of time and money to send less experienced floodplain managers and other professionals to conferences. Knowledge sharing is a critical component to interagency success at management of land, water, and natural resources, and EPW is a key to achieving this knowledge sharing goal.

SIGN UP: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/colorado-emerging-professionals-workshop-tickets-539594320137>

COST: FREE! Sign-up will be capped at 30 participants per location

What topics will be covered this year?

- Floodplain Management in the 21st Century
- Flood Preparedness and Response
- Federal and State Funding Programs
- Mentorship and the Importance of Building Relationships
- Client Communication: Knowing clients need, how to have difficult conversation, hearing both sides
- Rise to Leadership and Importance of Succession Planning

WHEN/WHERE:

Tue. May 16th- Denver

Mon. June 12th- CO Springs

Wed. August 9th- Grand Junction

Thurs. August 24th- Alamosa

9:00 am – 2:30 pm (MST)

QUESTIONS?

Contact: Colorado Silver Jackets
colorado.silverjackets@usace.army.mil

